Distracted China-Most assuredly no stable republican government can be erected in China which ignores Cantonese opinion and the leaders of the South, and we cannot imagine that such an astute man as Yuan Shih-kai has proved himself to be would be led into such a hopeless blunder. VBy his present move he declares for a Republic, and if Dr. Sun Yat-sen is willing for the good of his country to submerge self-interest, as he says he is, we do not see why he cannot come to a working arrangement with Yuan Shih-kai which their mutual aims for the benefit of China can be carried

"The Duke of Fife, The death of one so near to the Throne as His Grace the Duke of Fife, husband of the Princess Royal and brother-in-law of His Mujesty the King, will necessarily cause the cancellation of many of the arrangements which were being made in London for popular rejoicings in connection with the return of Their Majesties the King and Queen from their memorable and epoch-marking visit to India. The Dake and his family were passing the winter in Egypt—not the first time—for the benefit of the health of the Princess Royal, which has for some time been far from robust, It was only on Monday night that news came of the grave illness of the Duke, and this telegram was followed within the short space of thirty hours by another intimating that His Grace had passed peacefully away at Assuan in Upper Egypt, on the bank of the Nile. The nature of his illness was pleurisy and congestion of the lange, due to a chill, and this will doubtless be associated in the minds of most readers with the unpleasant experiences of the Duke and his

The City Walls - Agend Trumpet blasts were required to lay low the walls of Jericho. Those of Canton are also to be levelled to the ground, though by the human agency of strenuous labour rather than by supernatural means. This is a real sign of the times, especially as the instance is not isolated, for the same process of demolition is progressing in other cities in China, notably Shanghai. It is one of the striking indications of the great awakening of a long downtrodden people, that in their emulation of Western thought and Western activity, they are able to shake themselves free from the traditions which for centuries have been impregnate in the life of their race. Yet It cannot be without some pangs of regret that old ideas and old institutions are allowed to go. It turned out that other religious Les would be quite so well houses had had similar narratives, and when upon the map M Bedier had connected them with a pencil he found that the line traced the old Roman road that had at that time led straight through France to the shrine of St. James of Compostello. Now crowds of plilgrims would pass along that way, including men from the North; accompanied by jongleurs, who would sing at the halting places. The jongleurs had fraternised with the monks, with new matter for their minstreisy. The reason suggested with all his faults and limitations, so popular a hero along this route and the public suddenly said: in particular is that the pilgrims, "This is poetry" and they were being about to enter a partly

HONGKONG, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 81, 1912.

THE SITUATION.

There is weariness in reiteration and it is difficult to ay anything particularly new or illuminating about the position in China. The old facts may be dressed up in a new robe and exhibited as novelty, but the discerning eye would quickly penetrate the disguise. As an alternative fiction may be made to masquerade as fact, but while these may be interesting journalistic expedients they ere not particularly satisfying to the reader. In strict fact the situation is still shrouded in such absolute uncertainty that it is next to impossible for those not immediately connected with the revolution to determine how things stand. Probably it would be keeping within the bounds of fact to say that even the leading men of either party in China do not know very clearly the precise direction in which things are drifting.

It might be worth while to endeavour to set out the position as it appears to-day. We say appears, because there is much going on beneath the surface at Peking, at Shanghai, at Nanking and at · Wuchang, which may render appearances deceptive. For example we have excellent authority for stating that relations between the civil and military office-bearers of the Provisional Government at Nanking, have been, on several occasions, strained to a dangerous degree. It is, therefore, well to bear in mind that the Revolutionaries are not altogether a united body, though, of course, in the face of a big common danger differences would probably be dropped for the time. An almost precisely similar position prevails a Peking. Yuan Shih-kai is apparently not quite decided whether abdication would not be the speediest and most satisfactory solution of the difficulty; the elder Manchus are disposed to favour abdication, the young Manchus oppose it and the Imperialist military leaders urge it. In the meantime the military forces of each side are on the move and a report states that General Chang Haun's command has met with a heavy reverse.

It would be worse then idle to attempt to prophecy, what the the following details embarked at revolutionary conference. This Kom Hong $25.00, Mr. B. K. not be gainsaid that outcome is likely to be. These bring the total up to Mr. Scaros' Diabolini (one mile) George H. Bisel, forty, farmer, each mide, but there seems reason to suppose that the Revolutionaries are rather more hard pressed than the Imperialists. That can be judged by the many dubious financial expedients that the Revolutionaries have resorted to of late. The threat to seize the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company's fleet, and holding to ransom rich men known or believed to have Imperialist sympathies, are indications that money is very badly needed. However, thirty nine per cent of chickory. If this machinery is working properly funds should be beginning to come in. Still. as we have said already, the only safe course is to follow the advice . given by Mr. Asquith in another connection-"to wait and see."

Giving evidence in a case a Singapore last week in reference to the unruly behaviour of coolies from South China, Dr. Brooke, Port Health Officer, remarked that the public aspect was getting very serious. On every ship which had arrived from China during the last six weeks the same story had been told. Now, as a matter of coutine, force of armed police as sent on board every coolie work of the Port Health CO WAS disorganised, and the oamer agents had to pay the ads of dollars. He had interv ed one of the ringlesders, on ships and this man had to have a new Governmen not submit to anything ; " do."

Then, advice was confined to legal matters, but now I think, it will not be confined to any particular subject, but to matters in general. I. congratulate Dr. Fitzwilliams on his re-election as second elective member of the board I had heard rumours that he was not going to stand again but I am glad to say that he, if he ever thought of retiring from the Board, reconsidered his decision. Bacteriologist regarding the Pokfulam water supply was laid on the table at the meeting and it was decided on the suggestion of Dr. Fitzwilliams to defer discussion of the matter until next meeting, as the report was somewhat lengthy.

TRAINING NOTES.

Course Still Heavy.

It looks as if it will be some time before the course will be condition; for the last few days has not been conducive to fast going. The inside track is very holding whilst the moisture in the turf on the race track proper, prohibits galloping to any extent there and any attempt, at using this track without exercising great care would mean the breaking up of the ground.

Trials are taking place almost every day now instead of Wodnesdays and Saturdays, and owners are very anxious to keep the full Sir,-May I again beg the strengths of their teams to themselves. AN APPEAL CASE,

Both Sides Object.

In the Courts of Justice this morning, the Chief Justice, Sir' Francis Piggott, and the Puisne Judge, sitting in appellate jurisdiction, commenced the hearing of the Shiu Lung firm, the Choung Yuen firm, the Shiu Kee firm partners in the Yan Wo firm, and Chan Kit-shan.

The case originally came before the Chief Justice, and plaintiffs' claimed, that an account be taken of the money due from the defendant to the plaintiff, and of the monies received by the former in respect of the plaintiffs' trade mark. In the alternative the payment of $10,000 was claimed. It was also asked that a receiver be be granted restraining the defendant firms from disposing of certain property. The Chief Justice in the hearing in the lower court found for the plaintiff as regards the taking of the accounts, against all the deiondants saying Chan Kat-shan, the case against whom was dismissed with costs and it was against this decision that the defendants appealed. Mr. Marcus W. Slade, K.C., instructed by Mr. Holborrow, appeared on behalf of the appellants. and Mr. H. E. Pollock, K.C., instructed by Mr. Beavis, for the respondents. Mr. Slade said he appeared for. three of the original defendants. the Lai- Yuen firm, the Cheung way The report of the Government Yuen firm, and the Shui Kee firm; the other defendants had allowed judgment to go by.

New Rules.

A pamphlet containing the memorandum of association and rules of the Shanghai Stock Exchange has been distributed by G. V. T. Marshall, Secretary. The pamphlet also contains the amended rules passed at an extraordinary general meeting of the Exchange held on December 12, 1911, which were to come into force January 1, 1912.

Among the new rules, is one which requires that every member shall keep a cash book and a day book, showing every. ward, and that such books shall be open to the inspection of a properly qualified chartered accountant on three days notice. The absence of such a rule as this has been commented on frequently involving stock exchange opera-Another new rule is one which prohibits the transaction of forward business with juniors in public or private establishments. without the knowledge of their employers. The pamphlet tons tains the announcement that rules for the transaction of forward business are being compiled but have not yet been adopted.

Shanghai Share Report:

The following is Messrs. J. P. Bissett & Co.'s share report dated Friday, Jan. 19:-

A fairly large volume of business has passed through the Exchange during the pastwook, and a healthy feeling pervades the dealings in all classes of stocks. The market for rubbers is one that has for many months been quiescent and relegated to a position of minor importance, but this week-dealings in rubber sliares have formed the chief feature in the market. The tone of share business generally is decidedly firm and prices show a steady upward tendency.

Banks,-H. & S. Banks show no change from $905, Cathay Trusts, slightly firmer, changed hands at Tls. 7.

Insurance. — Yangtszes being enquired for in small lots at $212.1.2. Unions are in demand at $830. North Chinas remain nominal at Tls. 150.

Shipping.-No change. Indo-Chinas are wanted at Tls. 44. Dooks and Wharves,-Shang-

The following is a true copy of an application sent to the head of a cartain department in India :-Most Honoured Sir -- Understanding that there are several hands wanted in your honour's department, I beg to offer you my hand. As to my adjustments L'appeared for the Matrie Examination at Ooty, but failed, the reason for which I shall describe. To begin with, my writing was illegible, this was due to climatic reason, for I having come from a warm in a cold climate found my fingers stiff and very disobdient to my wishes. Further, I had received a great shock to my mental system in the shape of the death of my only long brother. lows on the Situation.

A representative of the "Japan limes" recently interviewed Chang Ming-chi, ox-Vicer y Danton, now in Kwoto, on the dituation in China.

Asked whether he was in favour ol ropublicanism or a constitutional monarchy, he replied that the salvation of Ohina was all what he was most anxious about for he said, the Country was perishing. Whether China-can be saved by establishing a republic or by preserving the monarchy is a great question, but he was of opinion that Constitutional monarchy was best adapted to China, the reason being that the preservation of China's territorial integrity and concentration of power can only be realized under a monarchical regime.

-The-spread-of-revolutionary spirit in China is quite natural, he said, because the maladministration of the Peking Government resulting in the wides read sufficience of the people, has unfortunately called forth anti-Gwaramant feeling. $\mathbf{B} \approx$ thought that in more wordy argument was of little avail to appears popular discontent. No attempt to suppress the rave utionary spirit among the prople and to consolidate the constitutional monarchy would be possible without first effecting administrative-reforms on-the part of the Covernment

The revolutionary spirit of the Hans is attributed to political and economic reasons; the first being the domand for remedying political all grievances, and the other to imprave the economic conditions of the country. But, unfortuuntely, the revolution broke out in it Waching before he could get an answer from the Throne.

Immediately after the Wuchang uprising, he again potitioned the Throne as before, adding that the Emperor should issue a decree liumiliating in nature and granting an early convening of a national. Parliament to pacify the people. 4 To this again the Emporor failed to make a re-
